

Example

Gunnar Lund

3/16/20

1 This example uses the handout files

This is a sentence.

This refers to (1) below.

1.1 This is also a header

- (1) This is an example and it contains *emphasis.

And there can be paragraphs in between.

- (2) This is a second example with math: $\exists x : \text{test}(x) \wedge \text{this}(x)$
With a second paragraph.
- (3) a. This is a subexample.
b. This is a second subexample with SMALL CAPS and ~~strikeout~~.

This refers to the sublabel in (3a). Glossing works as well, as in (4).

- (4) C'est un exemple.
DEM+COP an example
"This is an example."

Or with an inserted example (with includeex.lua). By default, the context will appear if present. If the gloss contains both a text and morphemic breakdown, the text won't appear unless specified in the attributes. Also notice that "g" shouldn't be appended to the example reference.

- (5) [Context or preamble]
- vyanten en=te mw=i abwilyep
person dem=dem.med mw=i abwilyep

this man is a sorcerer

With attributes suppressText=false and suppressContext=true:

(6) vyanten ente mwi abwilyep

vyanten en=te mw=i abwilyep
person dem=dem.med mw=i abwilyep

this man is a sorcerer

Notice also that examples with only text, gloss, and translation work as expected.

(7) ??A more minimal example is here

ART more minimal example COP here

A more minimal example is here.

[With a line break in the free translation.]